FACTS ABOUT STORMS.

A vast amount of information is constant y being gathered and collated by the U. S. Signal Service, out o which is being gracually built up the true science of that class of meteorological pheromena. Among the general observations thus far noted may be mentioned the following: Storms are accompanied with a degression of the harometer near the central line of the storm. and a rise of the barometer in the front auc rear.

"his central line of minimum pressure is generally of a great ength from north to south, and moves safe foremost toward the sea. This line is sometimes nearly straight, but generally curved, and most frequently with its convex side toward the east. The velocity of this line is such that it travels from the Mississippi to the Connecticut river in twenty four heurs, and from the Connecticut to ohns, Newfoundland, in nearly the same time, or about thirty-six miles an hour.

When the incometer falls sudden y in the western part of New England, it rises at the same time in he valley of the Mississippi, and also at St., ohus, Newfoundland. In great stor us the wind for several binning miles on both sides of the line of minimum pressure blows toward that line directly or obliquely.

The force of the wind is in proportion to the suddenness and greatness of the depression of the barometer. In all great and sudden depressions of the barometer there i much rain or snow; and in all sudden great rains or shows there is a great de-storm, and rises beyond its borders. Many storms are of great and unknown length from north to south, reaching beyond our ob-servers on the gulf of Mexico and on the northern lakes, while their east and west diameter is comparatively small. The storms therefore move side foremost. Most storms commence in the "Far West," beyond our most western observers, but some commence in the United States.

When a storm commences in the United States the line of minimum pressure does not come from the "Far West," but commences with the stormand travels with it toward the eastward.

When this line of minimum pressure passes an observer towards the east, the wind generally own changes to the west, and the barometer be gins to rise. There is generally but little wind near the ime of maximum pressure, and on each side of that minimum pressure, and sometimes a calm.

line the winds are irregular, but tend outward from that line The fluctuations of the barometer are generally greater in the northern and eastern, than in the, sauthern and western parts of the United States. In the northern parts of the United States the word generally in great storms sets in from north of east and terminates from the north of west; and in the southern parts the wind generally sets in from the south of east and terminates from the south of west. During the manage of storms the wind generally changes from the eastward to the westward. by the south, especially in the southern part of the United State

The northe n part of the storm generally travels more unpally toward the east than the south During the high barometer of the day preceding the storm it is generally clear and mild in Conted State, the lowest temperature of the modern practice of enting down forests, without month will be in the west on the same day that regard to consecuences, has prevailed. The the highest te operature is in the east The first of the principles upon which the signal coms proceeds, is that the invariable course of the air car ents is such as will equalize the atmospheric ressure upon the earth's surface, and that who tever inequalities exist, the winds are set in mo ion, the air thus finding its level, just as water or any other visible fluid does. Join na. of Chem try. THE CAN LEDRAL AT ANY

, STCCESS.

The successful man is not necessarily to be envied not always the happiest man. Suman nature cannot a ways have its own will ong without becoming determinated by it. We are appointed to struggle, and in our strug; ling our highest he is deve oped. The time w. 1 come when the aws of our present condition will ce use, and when we shall he able to bask in the sun sline of success without virility, or enervation of "ill then, it is our wisdom to accept our 'ol, and make the best of it; to seek for our enj tyment in our work, rather than in what the work produces; to till the soi, and dismiss a needless arriety about the harvest; to be more concerned that we should do right than that we should succeed; in fact, to bear ourselves like well discip ince solviers, with whom strict obedience is the most sacrer, of ob igations, and are hereby absolved from responsibility as to its results. Then, so far as ruccess is vouchto its results. safec to us, it will be grate u ; so ar as it is ce-nied, it wil not disconcert us. Thus iving, our life will be its own success."

with an eye for a good horse, who, shortly after betaking himself to his summer residence on Long Island, in April last, was sitting on his piazza one fine morning and noticing a pair of time steppers that were being driven on the road in front of his house. The team consisted of a bay and gray mare, and the driver was an unas-uming, quiet, well behaved young man. The New Yorker noticed them again on the following day, was more than ever impressed with their fine style and graceful step, and he decoted at once to buy them Accordingly, on the next day he stationed I inself at his gate, and when the term came pogging by he signalled the driver to stop. "That's a pretty fair team you drive." says he. "Yes, hey are micerately good step "That's a pretty fair team you drive." asked the New Yorker. "Are they for sale?" asked the New Yorker. "Well, yes, i would," was the rather hesitating reply. "Bend them was the rather hesitating reply. "Bend them along down the road and back, so I can see how they move," say the New Yorker. Up and down they were sent a few times, and at length the gentleman seemed satisfied, and signalled the driver to pull up. "I like them pretty well," said he, "and will huy them if the price is not too high; what do you ask for them?" "Sixty five thousand dollars," was the reply, very coolly given The gentleman owned his eyes and mouth in astonishment, and Charley Green drave off with Lulu and Fleety Golddust at a 2:25 gait, leaving the old gentleman to won-ter at the high price of good fair roadstern.— Spirit of the Times.

BRUUS LART AND - E CHNUED: NIAT..

Sir Francis Grant and the members of the Royal Academy are desirous of making a crea-itable display of British Art at the Philacelphia Centennial. The Academy promises to send the dipioma works of deceased Academicians, and the Covernment is to be asked to defray the expense of exhitining the works of British artists. The Lindon Standard says: "Art is precisely the one department in which it is must desirable that we should be worthly represented, and this Philadelphia Exhibition, we cannot bu, feel, her some special claim on us to make it as complete The waists of basques and wraps are very longo as possible. We cannot reasonably expect tax vate persons will bear all risk and cost of sending valuable pictures and sculptures across the Atlantic. If any such are to be sent, there-fore, they should be sent at the charge of Covernment. Were there no precedents for nuch a course, it was desirable to make one in such a special case, there being no country which, hav-ing invited her neighbors to send to her special mens o their best productions, has a stringer claim apon us to cordinary answer her appeal than the United States."

Egypt, the great home and source of human knowledge, letters, science, and useful arts, at several widely separated epochs of the world's history, is again taking on a tremendous larder for education, under the promptings of the Kbe-dive. The night of five thousand of his soldiers studying their primers, at once, which a recencorrespondent describes, is less imposing, of course, than Dr. Draper's description of the Allexandria scientific mit tute under the l'tolemies and again, a dozen centuries later, when Hypatia and the great library fell victims to the ignorant zent of the Christ an fathers but it is eculyarticularly cheerful and ing, nevertheless. p easant is the story that the Khedive's micher supports a school where three hundred girls are being educated. Then there are a great many schools besides this, well provided with teachers? especially for training girls and young women. As the American Consul expresses it, there is a perfect mania in Egypt at present for esideation.

In a French biography of the Pope it is related that a Free-thicker once accompanied a Catho-ic family to an audience, but, unlike the other measfamily to an audience, but, unlike the other members of the party, he refrained from asking any favor of the Pope. The Pope remarked this, and turning to him, said: "And you, my son, bave you nothing to ask from me." "Nothing, some Holmess," was the reply. "Really nothing, said the Pope. The orgest of doing buyiness is to make money. If two or more persons are engaged in the same tride, under the same Commistan-(c), the one whose transactions are largest will not only make most money, but the largest percenture of not probt. For example: A selfs $20.065 worth of goods, which allow him an average composition 25 per cent, or $5,000 surful. So os, quels and quoruses, with a year. In a sure rent, he pays $800; for as recitations and quality and them sistant, $500. In 'ne and light, $100; for miscellaneous est eners, S/z. I total of $2,000, leaving a net profit of $3,000

In the same town, in a similar store, B, an oftler merchant, longer established and better known, sells $40,000 per annum. B gets along with a sout the same rent, clerk hire doubled Cotting him $1,000 where A pays but $50%. It's entire expenses for the year are $1,000, while his profits are $10,000, 21055; $7,000 net; or 17 1 per cent, on the business done, white A made but 15 per cent, net. Any business man of experience will pronounce the above exhibit fair. A plan which will enable A to increase his business to an amount ecual to that dene by B without reducing his percentage of profit, will be worth $4,000 a year. .. fign expenditure o' $2,000 a year in advertising wil o it, such an expenditure would be justifiand. an expenditure of $4,000 will make A's trade touble that of B, then such an expenditure wil not be improdent; for on the 30,000 of business there will be 20,000 orose, from which to deduct he expenses, increase, to 4,500, and 44,000 paid for anvertis ing, we will save 10,300 nort, or #3,500 more than that make by 3, B has the larger trace became he is Army upon hem to be present.

Anoten ; the facts that he is an old merchant, and long established, are of no value further than they have con ributed to make him well They have advertised him.
